The coastal town of Mazatlán, Mexico, served as backdrop for Stefanie and Michael's wedding weekend filled with color, culture, and flair. For their after-rehearsal festivities on the eve of their big day, the couple led guests through the charming downtown district for a progressive fiesta of cocktails, dinner, and dancing.

CLOUTIER FROM THE LEFT: Wearing a lace and tulle wedding dress, the bride poses with her groom after their rehearsal at a local historic cathedral. • Rehearsal dinner invitations sported a salvalad at the top as a nod to the seaside town. • Escort cards were tied to colorful ribbons that hung from a tree during cocktail hour. • Dinner tables were decorated with monochromatic arrangements of roses, chrysanthemums, gold anemones, and more.
